

Where there is no personal virtue ...

... there is no liberty or independence